Dooms – Harrisonburg 230 kV Electric Transmission Rebuild Project

At Dominion Energy, we are committed to providing safe and reliable electricity to the communities we serve. You are receiving this postcard to provide an update on the Dooms – Harrisonburg 230 kilovolt (kV) Electric Transmission Rebuild project. In February 2025, the Virginia State Corporation Commission (SCC) issued a final order, approving the project.

The existing electric transmission line that spans the City of Harrisonburg, Augusta and Rockingham counties, Virginia, is approximately 22 miles long and has been in operation for over five decades. Updating the structures and transmission line will help maintain your safe and reliable electric service. This work will occur within the existing right of way corridor; therefore, no new right of way is required.

Construction will begin on Phase 1, from Harrisonburg Substation to Grottoes Substation, in early winter 2026. Phase 2 construction is tentatively scheduled to begin in fall 2026.

The existing structures will be replaced with a mix of monopole and H-Frame structures. The new structure heights will vary, depending on location. Your electric service is not expected to be interrupted because of this project. Thank you for your patience as this important work is completed.

Protecting the grid against natural and man-made acts is a top priority. You can learn more about our commitment to safety at powerlines101.dominionenergy.com.
