Home Energy Check-up Plus

Program Overview

ATTIC INSULATION • DUCT SEALING • AIR SEALING

When air leaks through your home's envelope (the outer walls, windows, doors, and other openings), the end result is wasted energy and an unwelcome impact on your electric bill. A well-sealed envelope, combined with the right amount of insulation, goes a long way to help reduce your energy usage.¹

The EPA estimates that homeowners can save an average of 15% on heating and cooling costs (or an average of 11% on total energy costs) by air sealing their homes and adding insulation in attics, floors over crawl spaces and basements.²
