

(background noise of heavy machinery and shuffling food items)

Chad Camasta: Hey my name is Chad Camasta, we're with Dominion Energy up in the regional Operations Center and here volunteering to help sort these containers out and I think it's important to volunteer because it's good to serve our community.

John Kehoe: My name is John Kehoe I'm with Dominion Energy. I've been with the company for forty-three years. Dominion is just so great about giving back to the community.

Cynthia Singh Iser: Hi, this is Cynthia Singh Iser with the Capital Area Food Bank. I'm the director of the Northern Virginia region and we're located here in Lorton, Virginia. The food bank serves over 31 million meals a year to food insecure people in the DC, Maryland, and Virginia area. Specifically in Virginia we serve over nine million meals to about 120,000 food insecure people in our community. The food bank's mission is to provide needed meals to those who need it, so we collect food through donations and through purchases and distribute them to a network of partners who distribute meals at their pantries to the people in need. So we couldn't do it without the support of our partners like Dominion Energy. We thank them so much for their generous donation of $10,000 and also a large number of volunteers came into the warehouse today and helped us move the food through, so thank you so much Dominion energy and we look forward to partnering with you in the future. Thanks.