

How We Prepare For Hurricane Season

Our crews are working year-round on initiatives to get the power back on, fast and reduce the number of outages following major storms.

New technology, like drones, allow our crews to work safer and smarter.

Drones can quickly assess damage caused by severe weather.

And the sooner we understand the damage that has occurred, the faster we can assign crews to the most impacted areas.

We always work quickly to ensure public safety by restoring power to essential services first

Then we work 24/7 to return service for residential and business customers in the shortest amount of time.

We are in this together and ready to respond when you need us most.
