

Small, woman-owned business makes national impact with face coverings for Dominion Energy

And when everything- when COVID hit, we were only five employees at the time but still, those employees had to pay their rent, pay their mortgage, pay their, you know- put food on the table.

And it was really important that I figure out a way out of this.

And so, not only did we find a way out, we found Dominion Energy (laughs) which changed everything.
