AT DOMINION ENERGY, we are committed to continually reviewing and analyzing our energy infrastructure to provide safe, reliable, and affordable electricity to our neighbors. You are receiving this postcard because we are currently preparing to rebuild an electric transmission line between our Waller, Lightfoot and Skiffes substations in Williamsburg and Yorktown, Virginia.

Throughout the next few weeks, you will see our crews and contractors accessing the right of way corridor to begin preconstruction activities, such as placing stakes at locations for soil boring. The soil boring process includes drilling holes to sample the soil and assess its makeup. Soil borings help ensure the concrete foundations will provide adequate stability for the transmission structures. Each hole will be refilled before we move on to the next one. During this time, you can expect to see personnel on foot or in vehicles accessing the right of way, which may include use of access roads outside the right of way. We do not anticipate any interruptions to your electric service due to this project.

Construction is scheduled to begin in 2022 after all necessary permits and approvals are received. We will continue to keep you updated as activities progress.

In addition, we want to inform you that in the wake of ongoing public health concerns from the spread of the coronavirus, we are mindful of our activities and maintaining property owner interactions with the appropriate social distancing.

Thank you for your patience and understanding as we work to complete this important project.
